DR. GABRIEL R. MAGUIRE,
F. R. G. S.

A celebrated African explorer, traveler and lecturer, and at present the famous pastor of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church of Boston, the largest institutional church in America, Dr. Gabriel R. Maguire, who is to lecture here, is one of the "headliners" of the coming Chautauqua.

Dr. Maguire is an Irishman—pure goods, highest grade. His brogue, wit, pathos and eloquence make his address, "With An Irishman Through the Jungles of Africa," an unforgettable occasion. The curios and souvenirs employed by the Doctor in this lecture are intensely interesting, and are worth thousands of dollars. Second night.

PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS:

"The work that the Chautauqua is doing has not lost importance because of the war, but rather has gained new opportunities for service. Let me express the hope that you will let no discouragement weaken your activities, and that the people will not fail in the support of a patriotic institution that may be said to be an integral part of the national defense."

Today—as at no other time in all our history is the value of Chautauqua, the crying need for it—evident.

CHAUTAUQUA AND THE WAR.

The weapons which win victory for democracy include more than the physical equipment for conflict. They embrace the brain power, the thought power, the spiritual energy of a people. Whatsoever conserves and directs these vital forces in this grave hour serves humanity. President Wilson has called the Chautauqua to this service. Its lectures, he says, are "effective messengers for the delivery and interpretation of democracy's meaning and imperative needs." The work it is doing, "has not lost importance because of war, but rather has gained new opportunities for service."

Secretary-of-War Baker says that for taking the sting out of the word "draft" we must thank the Chautauqua.

Why Iron Chimney Stacks Corrode.

The cause of corrosion of galvanized iron extensions to chimneys is laid generally to condensation which forms inside the stack, and which in conjunction with the carbon which has been deposited in use, creates a galvanic action which soon destroys the zinc coating and finally eats through the iron or steel base. To prevent the condensation an air space around the stack is recommended. The stack is made double from the base to a point close to the top, with small iron braces between the inner and outer casings. These may be riveted close to the ends of the sheets in course of construction. The air space may be one or two inches, according to size of smokestack, and local conditions.—Scientific American.

Man in the Making.

We are all sculptors of life. From the anthropoid ape stage clear up through the ages, in the slow process of evolution, man has been at work chiseling himself. Always on the whole bettering himself a little, eliminating the animal, the brute qualities more and more, in spite of setbacks, he has persistently struggled toward the realization of his ideals—the higher man, the ideal man.

Our sculpturing is mental; our thought is the chisel that traces the ideal in life's marble. Angel and demon, beauty and ugliness, success and failure lie side by side in the marble of life.—Dr. Orison Sweet Marden, in New Success.

"Nuts" of Priorend.

Priorend makes remarkably modest demands on orthography for a Balkan town, being spelled in only six different ways.

It has no need for a water board, because the river Britza, called the Maritsa by casual geographers, cuts the town in two, while in almost all the streets there are brooks that become torrents after heavy rains.

The Priorendian "nuts" are the most gaudily dressed people in the Balkans, and the local bazaars blaze with garish garments, beside which the rainbow-hued neckties inflicted on innocent Englishmen at Christmas would look drab.—London Chronicle.
